MINUTE WITH THE MAYOR

Can you feel it? There's an incredible energy in our City right now. Although we're only a little more than a month into the new year, I can confidently say that 2023 is going to be a very exciting year in La Vista. Why wouldn't it be? We celebrated many proud moments in 2022, and we're continuing to build on last year's momentum.

Just think about what we accomplished in 2022. For starters, there was a great deal of progress and development. As you'll see on page 4 of this edition of La Vista Viewpoints, crews have worked incredibly hard on projects to transform Central Park. The City's second parking garage also took shape last year.

Construction of the Nebraska MultiSport Complex (NMSC) in La Vista progressed in 2022. We expect to see many visitors come to play, dine and stay in our hotels once the attraction is fully operational.

The Applewood Creek Trail project is another notable 2022 achievement. When complete, the project will help expand our trail system and contribute to improved quality of life for La Vista's residents.

I'm also extremely proud of the work City staff put in over the last year to provide opportunities for us to reconnect with friends and neighbors. Events like our Salute to Summer Festival, concert and movie nights, trivia nights, pet-friendly events, book clubs, recreation classes, sports and the many holiday events at Santa's Workshop helped us rebuild something we lost during the pandemic — our sense of community.

La Vista's City-sponsored events provided the entertainment and togetherness we needed last year, and that has to be among our top achievements. The best part? There is even more in store for 2023.

I'm proud of how vibrant our community is and all that we have to look forward to this year and beyond. Good things are happening in La Vista every day. I invite you to celebrate them. Let's look ahead to our City's future with optimism.

I wish you a happy, healthy and prosperous 2023.

MAYOR
Douglas Kindig

Hey La Vista,

HOW ARE WE DOING?

We are collecting feedback to help us plan for La Vista's future. Randomly chosen households in La Vista will soon be mailed a survey to capture residents' needs, interests and preferences regarding City services, programs, events and activities.

Watch your mailbox! If your household receives the National Community Survey, please help us by completing and returning it promptly. Tell us what you like, what you think could be better and what we should be doing that we aren't currently.

The survey should only take a few minutes of your time, and your insights will help us align City amenities with the needs and wants of the residents who use them.

A few weeks after the survey is mailed to residents, an online version will be available for anyone to complete. If you don't receive a mailed survey but want to provide input, you are welcome to do so via the online survey at CityofLaVista.org/Survey.

Updates will be provided on the City's website and social media channels about when the online survey is open.

*History
future.*

La Vista's first schools were actually houses.

Today, families in the La Vista community send their children to one of four elementary schools or the middle school, all located within the City limits.

When the community was founded in 1960, though, there were no school buildings.

La Vista's birth as a city and growth as a community presented quite a quandary to the Papillion School District. Those moving into the House of Nines were, by and large, young families with several school-aged children per household.

"I think the school district was in a position where this area was growing so fast with young families. They all had children, and they couldn't construct buildings fast enough to house all the children," said Assistant City Administrator Rita Ramirez, who attended second through fifth grades in the house schools. "So that was an alternative. They worked out an agreement of some sort with the developer."

Prior to new school construction, La Vista students attended class in houses renovated for educational use. Ramirez's family was one of the first to move to La Vista, and she attended second grade in 1961 in one of the cottages on 72nd Avenue. By fifth grade, she and her classmates moved to another cottage on Lillian Avenue.

"It was a much simpler time," she said. "There wasn't playground equipment or any of that. So you just made up your own fun when you were outside.

Literally everyone walked to school, and it didn't really matter what the weather was."

One memory of attending school in the houses still sticks out to Ramirez – the day John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

"We all went home for lunch, and things were just starting to break.

The news was on, and my mom was watching, and when we went back to school, the teacher had a TV in the classroom. That was not a thing in those days that you had TVs in the room," Ramirez said.

"It was a major world event. I think it had a very deep impact for students who were 10 or 11 years old at the time. It's like remembering where you were when 9/11 occurred. You remember that day forever, and you could tell it was that way for the adults."

In 1963, an $800,000 bond issue was approved to construct, among other facilities, La Vista West and G. Stanley Hall elementary schools. These new schools replaced the cottages scattered throughout the community and added quality and convenience to the student experience.

"It was a big change," Ramirez said. "Bigger classrooms, a lot more space, hallways and interacting with kids at other grade levels to a much, much bigger degree. It was pretty exciting. We had playground equipment, and it was a real school."

Construction continues on The Link in Central Park

Construction on facilities in Central Park and City Centre have progressed nicely through the fall and early winter months. Crews have been busy on public projects for the City including The Link in Central Park.

Located at the southern end of Central Park, where the park connects to the private City Centre development, The Link will be a facility that will provide public restrooms, concession areas and outdoor event space that will be available for rent by the public. The project also includes public spaces around the Astro music venue.

The plaza in front of the music venue will be a welcoming public area to relax outdoors, meet up with friends for lunch or before a concert and enjoy water features near the entrance to the venue.

Access to Central Park from City Centre will be created by a series of stairs and accessible ramps as well as a fun slide for the youngsters or those young at heart. Additional public gathering space will be available at the base of this entrance to the park. Construction on The Link is anticipated to be complete by late summer or early fall 2023.

The City's history will play a prominent role in the facility. Incorporated into the design is the Wall of Nines, which honors the City's first neighborhood, the House of Nines, where you could buy a house for $9,999 and pay $99 a month. Behind the walls will be plants and other landscaping.

The Link will feature an elevated boardwalk measuring about 4,500 square feet, providing a link between the facility and the trail system in the park. Most recently crews were working to install the decking on the boardwalk as well as the structural steel for the sloped roof system over the upper level of The Link.

Matt Feik, Superintendent with JE Dunn Construction, says the crews working on the project know about the history of the area, and they talk about how important it is to the La Vista community.

"They, get a twinkle in their eye, like, oh, this actually isn't just a retail space or something. This is a community space that people are going to use forever."

Beginning this month, La Vista residents will be able to stop by City Hall and the La Vista Public Library to sign a beam that will be incorporated into the slide structure. More information will be posted on the City's website and social media channels about the dates and times the beams will be displayed. Watch for updates, then plan to stop by to put your mark on a beam and become part of City history.

Fire Chief Bill Bowes to retire this spring.

Bill Bowes, the beloved chief of the Papillion Fire Department (which serves the City of La Vista) announced last fall that he would retire in the spring of 2023.

Bowes has served as chief since March 2006. During his tenure, he's led the department as it grew from one fire station to four and more than tripled the size of its staff.

Additionally, Bowes oversaw the joining of La Vista's volunteer department with Papillion's department in 2014, a move that brought professional fire services to the City of La Vista for the first time.

The department's growth under Bowes' leadership is remarkable — even to the chief himself. "I never could have imagined that it would become this size," Bowes said.

Beyond the sizeable growth and transformation that took place in the department while he served as chief, an equally impressive part of Bowes' legacy is his deep commitment to community involvement.

"It's important to me to have the fire department involved in the community," said Bowes.

He explained that there are varying schools of thought in fire service. While some view the role as primarily answering calls and doing training, Bowes has always challenged his department to be as involved in the community as possible.

"To me, the fire department is one of the ingredients that makes a community a community," Bowes said. He's made it a point to ensure the department routinely takes part in community activities, sends trucks to ribbon cuttings, partners closely with Papillion – La Vista schools and builds relationships with people in the community. This helps crews perform their jobs better, Bowes said.

As his retirement date approaches, Bowes says he's started thinking about how he'll occupy his time in the future. Initially, he wants to take a few months to relax. That will include playing softball and taking a few mini vacations. Then there are home projects, and family time, of course.

In a statement that's fitting of someone who has spent 38 years of his career serving others, Bowes shared that he wants to spend time doing something that benefits others and makes his community better.

"I'm trusting in God to bring something in my path that's going to give me that purpose."

Chief Bowes' retirement is tentatively set for late March or early April. We wish him a happy and fulfilling retirement. And many thanks for the years of service and contributions to our community!

INSIDE PERSPECTIVE

The ins and outs of the La Vista brand.

MORE THAN A LOGO...

After defining our brand, we know what differentiates La Vista from other communities.

We are a city where small gestures and big ideas are both priorities, and this is the perfect time to see both in action.

Our small gestures have become the hallmark of our community with large and small events throughout the year to promote connections and a sense of community. Where else can you visit with Santa in an intimate environment like his La Vista workshop?

Our big ideas have required courage and an eye on what's next. These big ideas have helped us grow into a destination with the likes of Cabela's, Alamo Drafthouse, the Embassy Suites Hotel & Conference Center and more. On top of that, projects like the Nebraska MultiSport Complex and the Astro music venue in La Vista City Centre will bring thousands of visitors to our city, while improving the quality of life for those who live here.

We're always striving for new ideas and solutions while never forgetting the small gestures that connect all of us. This will be an exciting year, La Vista!

In La Vista, kindness isn't just a concept people talk about, it's common practice.

La Vista is a small city with a lot of heart. Residents, businesses and City employees in our tight-knit community regularly come together to help individuals and families in need.

This past fall, the City's Spread the Warmth Coat Drive brought in more than 450 pounds of new and used coats for distribution by the Papillion-La Vista Community Closet. During November and December, the City hosted its third annual Helping Hands Food Drive and collected a truckload of food for the NeighborGood Community Pantry (formerly the Tri-City Food Pantry).

These examples of cooperation by residents, businesses and organizations in La Vista prove that kindness and generosity are defining characteristics of our community.

In the second half of 2022, our community gave...

1 truckload of backpacks and school supplies donated to La Vista West Elementary students

School Supply Drive

450 lbs. of winter coats and accessories given to the Papillion-La Vista Community Closet

COMMUNITY CELEBRATIONS

The City of La Vista hosted more than 20 'Twas the Lights events in 2022 that brought people in our community together to celebrate the holidays. The City's celebrations began with Santa's annual sleigh ride through La Vista neighborhoods. This sleigh ride was particularly meaningful because it marked 30 consecutive years of the tradition in La Vista.

Maintenance projects to tackle this spring.

Spring cleaning can be a divisive topic. While some people can't wait to attack cleaning projects they put off during the year, others find it strange that anyone would get excited about cleaning. (Don't worry, we won't judge you either way!) Whether you love or loathe cleaning, here's a piece of advice to make your spring cleaning more productive:

Include seasonal home maintenance tasks on your spring cleaning checklist.

Spring cleaning isn't just for tidying up around your home. Spring is the perfect time to complete maintenance projects that are easily overlooked. The City of La Vista's Building Inspector, Brad Baber, says that giving attention to the following maintenance projects this spring could save you from headaches in the future.

5 SIMPLE SPRING MAINTENANCE TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS

1. Inspect the exterior of your home

Winter storms can damage a home's exterior. Unfortunately, homeowners may not notice issues during the winter when they spend less time outdoors. In the spring, walk around outside and examine your home's exterior. Check siding, windows, masonry, etc. Don't forget to examine your deck, too.

2. Clean out gutters and downspouts

Gutters clog easily during the fall and winter. Take time in the spring to remove debris and check that gutters are not loose or leaky, and the extensions are in place draining away from the home.

3. Check your AC unit

Give your air conditioner some attention in the spring before the weather heats up. Take time to go outside and examine your AC unit. Remove any debris that is around the unit.

4. Replace HVAC air filters

Manufacturers recommend changing air filters at different intervals based on the type of filter used. Oftentimes filters need to be changed every three to six months. Make a habit of changing your filter in the spring while doing other cleaning and maintenance so you don't forget.

5. Check home safety equipment

Replace batteries in your smoke detector and carbon monoxide detector. You never know when you'll need them. Sometimes, it's a matter of life or death, so take the time to change the batteries now. Pick a date to do this maintenance (like daylight savings time) and test the units and replace batteries every year. Also, replace expired fire extinguishers.

POLICE

Police issue a warning about uptick in scams.

Warning: Scammers are impersonating police officers. The La Vista Police Department is seeing an increase in scams involving persons claiming to be from a local law enforcement agency.

This is part of a nationwide trend in which scammers call people claiming to be a member of a police or sheriff's department. Scammers state that the person they are targeting must submit a form of payment to avoid being arrested.

They often give real names of officers and may spoof the phone number from the local police department.

The La Vista Police Department wants to remind you that:

- La Vista Police will never call you and request money for any reason.
- The La Vista Police Department does not call community members and seek payment for outstanding traffic citations or warrants. This includes claims of unpaid federal or state taxes.
- The La Vista Police Department does not work with collection agencies to collect unpaid debts.
- If you receive a call from someone claiming to be a relative in jail, hang up and attempt to call them back using your normal means of contact for them. Contact the agency allegedly holding the person by locating a phone number from a directory rather than using the number provided by the caller.
- Ask for a case or docket number. Hang up and then contact the agency through a directory or their web posted number.

AND NEVER SUBMIT PAYMENT OVER THE PHONE FOR CRIMINAL MATTERS!

Please be vigilant and share this information with others.

April is National Humor Month.

Some members of the La Vista Police Department think they're real comedians. We'll let you decide whether their favorite jokes are funny or criminally bad.

Why didn't Han Solo enjoy his steak dinner?

It was Chewie.

I also know a bunch of good jokes about umbrellas, but they usually go over people's heads.

The Sarpy Aikido Club is celebrating 33 years of operation in 2023.

Sarpy Aikido Club's specific style of aikido is Senryaku. The Club's roots come from Hawaii, and it has sister dojos across the U.S. Sensei Jeff Christenham answered some common questions about this modern martial art form and the classes Sarpy Aikido offers at the La Vista Community Center.

What is aikido?

Aikido is a non-competitive martial art for self-improvement and self-defense. It focuses on protection and neutralizing threats with the least amount of destructive force.

What are some benefits of practicing aikido?

Aikido contributes to overall physical and mental well-being. Benefits include self-confidence under stress, increased balance, movement efficiency, self-protection against falling (important considering more people hurt themselves falling vs. being attacked), connection and camaraderie with classmates and much more.

Who can learn aikido?

Aikido is a martial art for young and old alike. Anyone can practice it regardless of athleticism, injuries or age. We typically start kids around age 5-7 and teach adults into their 80's and above. No experience is needed to learn. In fact, students without prior martial arts experience tend to learn faster.

What are classes like?

Our classes typically start with warm-ups and aikido exercises, followed by fundamentals and paired partner practice. From the get-go, students learn rolls, deflections, footwork, escapes and striking, as well as locks and throws. Practices can be challenging but customized to each student's fitness level. Every class is fun and engaging.

FUN FACT

Most Aikido in Nebraska studied under Sarpy Aikido Club at some point.

PUBLIC WORKS ZONE

The East La Vista Sewer and Pavement Project to begin this spring.

There is good news for residents who have been eagerly awaiting progress on the East La Vista Sewer and Pavement Rehabilitation Project. Work on the project is scheduled to begin this spring.

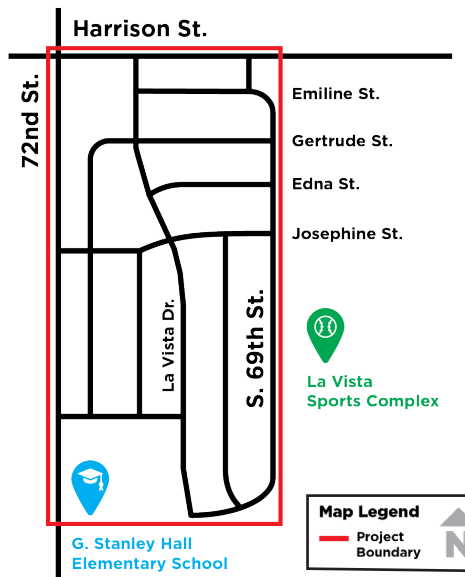

After a final round of bidding last fall, NL&L Concrete Inc. was awarded the bid to replace portions of the main sewer line with a liner, repair and replace lateral connections as needed and repave the streets.

Residents in the neighborhood east of 72nd Street and north of Thompson Creek, known as the House of Nines, will begin to see construction this spring. More exact timelines will be shared in the near future.

The Public Works Department is working closely with the contractor to develop communication materials to keep residents informed about the timing of work and when they should expect disruptions to services as construction takes place.

The City will utilize multiple channels to communicate about the project and its progress, so residents who live in the area are encouraged to watch for updates online and in their mailboxes.

In the meantime, questions about the East La Vista Sewer and Pavement Rehabilitation Project should be directed to the La Vista Public Works Department at 402.331.8927.

Follow us for construction updates and more!
