AUXILIARY AIDS AND SERVICES

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), State and local governments must ensure effective communication with individuals with disabilities. Public entities are required to provide appropriate auxiliary aids and service, where necessary, to ensure that communications (such as all public information, discourse, and/or announcements) with individuals with disabilities are as effective as communications with others. Auxiliary aids and services include: Large print formats, assistive listening devices (ALS), TTY/TTD access, closed captioning, interactive software for various disabilities, website accessibility implements, interpreters, readers, service animals, etc.

When selecting an auxiliary aid or service, a public entity should:

1. Give primary consideration to the aid or service preferred by the individual because that individual is usually best able to identify the communication barriers that hamper participation.
2. Allow people the opportunity to use their own assistive technology products to achieve effective communication.
3. Consider the context in which the communication is taking place and its importance.

A public entity is not required to provide:

1. The requested aid or service if there is another equally effective means of communication available; however, it must give primary consideration to the aid or service preferred by the individual.
2. Auxiliary aids that would result in a fundamental alteration in the nature of a service, program, or activity or in undue financial and administrative burdens. However, public entities must still furnish another auxiliary aid, if available, that does not result in a fundamental alteration or undue burden.

AUXILIARY AIDS AND SERVICES

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), State and local governments must ensure effective communication with individuals with disabilities. Public entities are required to provide appropriate auxiliary aids and service, where necessary, to ensure that communications (such as all public information, discourse, and/or announcements) with individuals with disabilities are as effective as communications with others. Auxiliary aids and services include: ~~Braille, large~~ Large print formats, assistive listening devices (ALS), TTY/TTD access, closed captioning, interactive software for various disabilities, website accessibility implements, interpreters, readers, service animals, etc.

When selecting an auxiliary aid or service, a public entity should:

1. Give primary consideration to the aid or service preferred by the individual because that individual is usually best able to identify the communication barriers that hamper participation.
2. Allow people the opportunity to use their own assistive technology products to achieve effective communication.
3. Consider the context in which the communication is taking place and its importance.

A public entity is not required to provide:

2. Auxiliary aids that would result in a fundamental alteration in the nature of a service, program, or activity or in undue financial and administrative burdens. However, public entities must still furnish another auxiliary aid, if available, that does not result in a fundamental alteration or undue burden.

Programs, Services, and Activities – Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

Purpose

The City of La Vista (Local Public Agency), hereinafter referred to as the “LPA,” assures that no person shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, age, disability/handicap or sex, as provided by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987 (P.L. 100.259) be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance. The LPA further assures every effort will be made to ensure nondiscrimination in all its programs and activities, whether those programs and activities are federally funded or not.

The Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987, broadened the scope of Title VI coverage by expanding the definition of terms “programs or activities” to include all programs or activities of Federal Aid recipients, sub-recipients, and contractors/consultants, whether such programs and activities are federally assisted or not (Public Law 100259 [S.557] March 22, 1988.)

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 USC 794), the LPA hereby gives assurance that no qualified disabled person shall, solely by reason of his disability, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination, including discrimination in employment, under any program or activity that receives or benefits from this Federal financial assistance.

In the event the LPA distributes federal aid funds to a sub-recipient, the LPA will include Title VI language in all written agreements and will monitor for compliance.

The LPA’s City Clerk is responsible for initiating and monitoring Title VI activities, preparing reports and other responsibilities as required by 23 Code of Federal Regulation (CFR) 200 and 49 Code of Federal Regulation 21.
